

Head of Counselling Services

Applications for this position close: 9.00am, Monday 11 January 2021

- Full-time, permanent position
- New diverse role
- Professional and supportive environment

Who we are

Canberra Girls Grammar School (CGGS) is an independent non-selective Anglican school with an enrolment of approximately 1,400 students across the ELC, Junior School and Senior School. The School has a strong reputation as a leader in the education of children and young women.

Our intent is to develop young citizens that are well-educated and who insist on living ethically and purposely. This is an opportunity to join a dedicated, supportive and innovative team in a School committed to excellence.

The Role

We are seeking applications for this full time, ongoing position to commence as soon as possible. The Head of Counselling Services provides leadership to the counselling team and works closely with staff, students and parents to promote student wellbeing in the School. A background working in a school setting would be an advantage.

The successful applicant will have experience as a mental health practitioner working with children and young people. Appropriate qualifications and membership of a professional association is required.

Applications

Further information, including the position description can be found on the School's website <https://employment.cggs.act.edu.au/>.

Applications should be made via the online application form on the Employment page of our website <https://employment.cggs.act.edu.au/>.

Applications should include a current resume and short cover letter. Queries regarding this position should be directed via email to employment@cggs.act.edu.au. Please note that applications cannot be accepted via the employment email address.
